UNIVERSITY OF CHICAGO ONLINE CONSENT FOR RESEARCH PARTICIPATION

I am a postdoctoral researchers at the University of Chicago, working in collaboration with Professor Risen in the Booth School of Business. We are planning to conduct a research study, which I invite you to take part in. This form has important information about the reason for doing this study, what we will ask you to do if you decide to be in this study, and the way we would like to use information about you if you choose to be in the study.

Why are you doing this study?

You are being asked to participate in a research study about imagining everyday situations and consumer preferences.

What will I do if I choose to be in this study?

You will also be asked to imagine an everyday situation. After that, we will ask you a few questions about your personal preferences in consumer decisions.

Study time:

Study participation will take no more than 5-10 minutes

What are the possible risks or discomforts?

The risks to your participation in this study are mild physical or mental stress. The only benefit to you is the learning experience from participating in a research study. The benefit to society is the contribution to scientific knowledge.

What are the possible benefits for me or others?

You are not likely to have any direct benefit from being in this research study. The study results may be used to help other people in the future.

How will you protect the information you collect about me, and how will that information be shared?

Results of this study may be used in publications and presentations. Your study data will be handled as confidentially as possible. If results of this study are published or presented, no individual names or other personally identifiable information will be used.

Financial Information

Participation in this study will involve no cost to you. You will be paid $0.50 for participating in this study.

What are my rights as a research participant?

Participation in this study is voluntary. If at any time and for any reason, you would prefer not to participate in this study, please feel free not to.

Who can I contact if I have questions or concerns about this research study?

If you have questions, you may contact the researcher Janina Steinmetz at janina.steinmetz@chicagobooth.edu.

If you have any questions about your rights as a participant in this research, you can contact the following office at the University of Chicago: Social & Behavioral Sciences; Institutional Review Board; University of Chicago; 5835 South Kimbark - Judd 333; Chicago, IL 60637; Phone: (773) 834-7835; Fax: (773) 834-8700; Email: sbs-irb@uchicago.edu

Consent Section

By accepting this HIT you are consenting to participation in this study.

Hunger

On the next page, you will be asked to imagine that you are currently experiencing a physical state (e.g., being thirsty, tired, etc.).

You will have at least 60 seconds to fully imagine experiencing that physical state, and to describe your experience. After 60 seconds, you can continue writing, or you can advance to the next part of the study (a consumer survey).

At the end of the survey, we will ask you a few questions about your experience.

Please click when you are ready to begin.

These page timer metrics will not be displayed to the recipient.

Block 11

Now, please think back to the physical state you imagined to experience in the beginning of the study. We would like to ask you a few questions about what you imagined.

How vivid was your mental imagery experience? In other words, how clear were the pictures that came into your mind when imagining the state?

Not very vivid:
There were no
clear pictures
